

BROKER DENIES INTIMACY WITH NURSE SUSPECT

London Magnate Says Mabel Schaeffer Was Merest of Acquaintances.

By ROBERT J. PREW

LONDON, Aug. 31.—George C. Howe, the London grain broker, yesterday informed Universal Service that Mabel Rockwell Schaeffer, who was arrested in Chicago as a drug addict and who is declared to have been writing him letters, is only a casual acquaintance.

"I met Mrs. Rockwell, as she was known to me, last November on a train from Winnipeg to Chicago. She told me she was the widow of an American, Rockwell, who died during the war. She said she had been a nurse and that she had lately been in a Canadian convent. I saw her a few times in Chicago and gave her some money. I never suspected that she was addicted to drugs."

"After I returned to London I got a letter from her, last December or January, asking me to send her money. I did not reply. As far as I remember I never wrote her at all."

GIRL, 13, AND MAN 30, WED, WILL BE MARRIED AGAIN

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 31.—Angelina Casterella, thirteen years old, and Michael Morando, thirty years old, are to be married a second time next month. It will be a religious ceremony to supplement a civil wedding performed in the presence of the girl's father ten days ago.

He pointed out that it was not unusual for girls of his daughter's age to be married in Italy. She is large for her age and was brought to this country two years ago. At the time of her marriage Angelina was attending a public school in Bayonne.

FOE OF HEALER FOUND IN RIVER AFTER THREATS

Blackmail Note on Body of W. W. Talcott May Explain Suicide.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The body of a man in the clothing of which the police found a card bearing the name of W. W. Talcott, missing since last Thursday, was taken from Lake Michigan yesterday. Talcott disappeared following an investigation of the teachings of A. J. Moore, self-styled "home healer," among whose disciples Talcott's wife was numbered.

Talcott resigned his position with a manufacturing concern and interested himself in the prosecution of Moore, who was fined $100 in municipal court on a charge of obtaining money from women followers by deception. Talcott declared his home life had been ruined by his wife's devotion to Moore's teachings and her attendance at the life institute founded by Moore.

An unsigned notation on a slip of paper found in the clothing read as follows:

"If you do not withdraw your suit against Moore evidence will be brought against you from six years ago."

Moore, when told of the finding of Talcott's body, expressed surprise and said:

"I never expected that it would turn out that Talcott had committed suicide."

GIRLS OF UNIONTOWN WON'T BOW TO STYLE

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 31.—With the ankle skirt decreed by the latest style, Uniontown girls, ranging in age from fifteen to twenty-one, have banded together to retain the short skirt, and declare they are going to continue to display their calves.

They say that they have a freedom of motion which they find very enjoyable. Unless they change their minds the young folks will continue to wear the skirt which reaches nearly to the knee, regardless of style.

Knickerbockers have only a few exponents in Uniontown and vicinity. Just when this semi-mannish attire was "catching hold" the residents of the negro section of the city became active in donning the apparel. Less than a half dozen white girls have appeared on the streets here in knickerbockers.

COMMENT ON HIS HAT CAUSES MAN TO SHOOT

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Joseph Tammio, of Brooklyn, wore a new straw hat when he went to work at the Eastern District terminal yards, North Fourth street and Kent avenue, Brooklyn.

Another workman, Vincent Russo, commented on its shape. This so aroused Tammio, say the police, that he drew a revolver and fired three shots at Russo. Tammio was held in $2,500 bail.
